

PUZZLE CORNER No.02

WORD FIND

There's Something in the Wood Shed

There's something in the wood shed,
I thought I heard it growl,
I thought I heard it slither,
I thought I heard it howl.
There's something in the wood shed,
I've heard it day and night.
I've heard it chase the neighbour's cat,
And it gave our dog a fright!
There's something in the wood shed,
I've seen its shining eyes
Watching for the moon to wake,
And light the darkened sky.
There's something in the wood shed,
And when the moon is bright,
I've seen it make a shadow
Upon the shed at night.
There's something in the wood shed,
So I crept in there to peek,
And hiding right behind a log
Was a _____ _____ . . . fast asleep.

Flame is one of two stationary horses standing on the platform of a beautiful carousel, but in his heart Flame wants to be a jumper like all the other horses about him. Then one day a young girl named Clara comes to the park.

Together, horse and girl, dare to dream.

Corinne Fenton has established a reputation for writing beautiful picture-book histories of animals whose lives have become legendary, with Queenie: One Elephant's Story and The Dog on the Tuckerbox – both CBCA award-winners. In her latest book, the story is once again set in the not-too-distant past, but is based upon an imaginary carousel horse, Flame.

Who was fast asleep in the wood shed?
